ORAL JUDGEMENT

Perused the Special Criminal Application, reply thereto and heard the learned counsel for the respondents. The petitioner prayed for parole leave for a period of 30 days for repairing of his house. I fail to see how far it is justified for the petitioner to apply for parole leave on this ground. If he is in need to repair his house, it can be got done through some other member of his family. It appears to be only a pretext to get out from the prison. In case on such ground the parole leave is granted, it will be a tool in the hand of the prisoner to get him out from the jail. It is not the purpose and object of the parole leave.

In the result, this Special Criminal Application fails and the same is dismissed. Rule discharged.
